elcome to the 1st edition of the Sky High Choos newsletter! I am thrilled to have this opportunity to share my passion projects with you, and to build a deeper, more meaningful relationship with my readers. My ultimate goal is to spread positivity and inspiration while encouraging you to pursue your wildest dreams. No matter how crazy your aspirations may seem, you can achieve anything you set your mind to. Let no one tell you otherwise.

Our Sky High Choos community has been created to lift one another up, to encourage challenging the status quo, and to defy the convention. We believe that success is a journey, not a destination. Along the way will face many obstacles yet will be reminded that the journey in itself can be a fulfilling, exciting, memorable, and adventurous trip.

In our monthly newsletters, you can expect to find a variety of highlights. Some of these include my favorite fashion, beauty, and accessory brands, hidden gems in Milan and other cities I visit and special events related to fashion and business both online and offline. I plan include noteworthy life lessons I've learned while working in the fashion industry and valuable resources that have impacted me in one way or another.

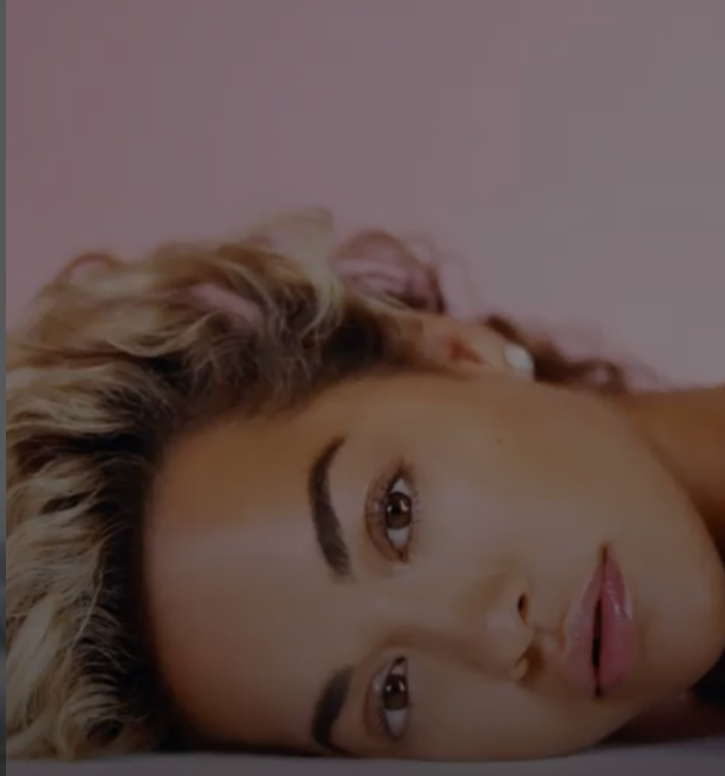

Moreover, I am excited to offer some unique perks to our subscribers, including secrets and tools that have enabled me to achieve personal and professional success, discount codes for purchasing products or services, and exclusive access to special events.

Sign up for the Sky High Choos newsletter today to indulge in all these benefits! Don't miss out on these exciting opportunities!

As Milan Fashion Week comes to an end, I invite you to read my latest blog post titled "5 Lessons from Crashing MFW". I would be honoured to hear your thoughts on my new article. I also invite you to share your recommendations on topics you would like me to highlight in the future. Thank you for tuning in, and let's embark on this exciting new adventure together!

MFW : ALL WRAPPED UP

On Sunday 26th February 2023, twelve unedited portraits of Kim Kardashian for Dolce & Gabbana were on display in the ala delle Cariatidi at Palazzo Reale. On my way to the exhibit, I ran into a very tall man in black cargo pants with a noticeable metal plate on the pants that screamed D&G. I looked up and immediately recognize Stefano Gabbana. Extremely starstruck I could barely pronounce Ciao Stefano!

Although I was too much of a chicken to ask him for a selfie, I did manage to snap a pic as he walked away.

TIME TO RECHARGE & REFUEL

Get your coffee boost at Orsonero Coffee in Port Venezia, owned by a fellow Canadian then take the night off by have dinner at La Specialità with your bff & make sure to order the Bruschetta con pomodoro and burrata as the antipasto and Le Specialità ai Porcini pizza. Thank me later... And indulge in the tiramisu before heading back home to snack on some strawberries dipped in dark chocolate. It seems to be the ultimate comfort food these days...

4 REASONS WHY dressing THE PART IS IMPORTANT

Looking the part is crucial not only when working in fashion but in any profession! It is a window into who you are and what you stand for -a determining factor in making a good impression whether it be during a job interview, date or important meeting. Therefore we took the time to round up the 4 reasons why dressing the part is crucial:

POSITIVE FIRST IMPRESSION

When you dress appropriately for an occasion, it can help you create credibility, respect and trust with potential or current clients, customers and colleagues.

BOOST CONFIDENCE

Dressing well can give you more confidence and self-assurance. It can help you perform better in your job, social interactions and improve your overall mood.

SHOWS RESPECT & PROFESSIONALISM

Dressing the part demonstrates that you value the people and environment around you and are willing to put effort into your appearance.

REFLECTS PERSONAL STYLE

Dressing the part doesn't necessarily mean conforming to strict dress codes or norms. It can also be a way to express your personal style and creativity, while still being respectful and appropriate for the situation.
